How We Do It

- Scalable and simplified channel processes
- Dynamic content management system
- Comprehensive partner engagement models
- Real-time channel analytics
- Seamless integrations

Accelerate Content Set Up

To enable an effective global content strategy in your channel, content should engage all partners in marketing. StructuredWeb streamlines your setup with “channel-friendly” content that is easily customizable by your local reseller partners. The StructuredWeb platform provides each partner with the relevant marketing assets they need to execute your marketing effectively.

Partner Marketing Library: Upload, store and share marketing assets with all of your partners from one centralized content repository.

Content Management: Control how content is shared with and edited by each partner. Consistently feature new campaigns and keep content fresh.

Point & Click Asset Templates: Create marketing assets that are easily customizable and scalable across partners.

Automatic Co-branding: Make your assets instantly valuable to partners with automatic co-branding.

Content Translation: Ensure that partners can leverage your assets to communicate with their customers by making content readily available in partners’ native language. We offer translation into 80+ languages.

Through the StructuredWeb platform, content becomes scalable across diverse partners and adaptable to local markets, enabling you to execute an effective content strategy that drives global demand.

Boost Channel Engagement

Capturing partner mindshare is the first critical step to successful partner programs. When partners are interested and have quick, easy access to the right content, their engagement and marketing execution increase. Here's how we raise awareness and ensure that your resources are leveraged most effectively.

Market to Your Partners

Our automated to-partner marketing capability gives you the tools to segment and market the right programs to the right partners to increase program adoption rates.

Personalize Portals for Partners

Through personalized portals, you can provide partners with quick and easy access to the content that is relevant to their business and customers.

Leverage Partner Diversity

Partners are diverse. When you can cater to the needs of all partners and leverage partner diversity, you unleash the full revenue potential of your channel programs.

See the Whole Sales Cycle

Our lead management tools give you greater visibility into the success and progress of the leads you pass along to your partners. This valuable data helps you refine your marketing strategy and communication in order to close more deals, step by step, prospect by prospect.

Automated Lead Distribution

Automated lead distribution tools seamlessly pass leads from your vendor CRM to a partner's portal where lead stages can be updated and converted into opportunity. Campaigns can be automated to follow the lead ensuring a continuous marketing effort as the lead progresses through the sales funnel.

Opportunity Management

Our opportunity management system lets your partners track every step of their sales process, increasing the probability of closing each deal. Visibility into the stages of a sales qualified lead also helps you ensure that partners never miss a step in the sales process.

Deal Registration

Our seamless integration with your partners' deal registration tools gives you clear visibility into the full sales cycle, from potential lead to final sale. Tracking a lead's progress helps you reduce channel conflict and ensure that every sales opportunity is managed effectively.

Get Real-Time Insights

Whether you want to measure the success of an entire campaign, marketing program, channel partner, or specific marketing asset, StructuredWeb Marketing Analytics is the only channel metrics tool that provides you with a real-time picture of your channel marketing performance.

With that type of visibility you can analyze aggregated data, measure partner performance, optimize campaigns, and leverage closed-loop reports to understand how your channel marketing dollars convert to sales.

Communicate in Every Language

To fully leverage the sales power of foreign partners, organizations need to communicate with and support partners in their local language. StructuredWeb connects you to the tools and resources needed to engage your globally diverse partners in marketing.

Multilingual Platform: Our fully translated interface, available in 18 languages, helps your partners locate content quicker so they can execute more marketing.

Content Translation: We provide content translation in 80+ languages so that your partners get instant access to existing assets in their local language.

Virtual Partner Marketing Managers: A robust concierge gives your partners the support they need in their local regions.

Global Online Support: You and your partners receive 24/7 online support.

Incorporate All Your Solution Providers

Channel marketing technology does not exist in a vacuum. In order to create a truly holistic solution, we acknowledge and work with other solution providers in the channel space. Through seamless integration with these providers, we can create one connected platform to meet the end-to-end needs of your channel.

Your existing solutions providers (such as CRMs, PRMs and ERPs) can easily be incorporated into our platform. Thanks to our technology's flexibility, channels can leverage the power of existing solutions to advance their capabilities and provide one centralized location that captures end-to-end data.

CRMs

Pass leads to partners, track marketing campaign data, report on opportunities, and generate real-time ROI data for your partner marketing investment with CRM integration.

PRMs

Through seamless integration with PRMs, we support MDF and Deal Registration as well as the ability to leverage detailed insight to partners sales activity. This data partnership helps you align you channel sales and marketing enablement solutions.

ERPs

Leverage the data and insights from your core business processes to better manage your partner relationships and optimize channel marketing activity.
